Table of Contents

A Critique of Security. Towards a Positive Turn in Criminology 9
Marc Schuilenburg, Ronald van Steden and Brenda Oude Breuil
Introduction 9
Missing out on fundamental questions 10
The need for critique 12
A positive turn 13
References 15
Notes 16

Theoretical Part 17

Positive Security. A Theoretical Framework 19
Marc Schuilenburg and Ronald van Steden
Introduction 19
Social-biological discourse: human connectedness 20
Anarchic discourse: local capacity building 22
Religious discourse: a spiritual order 23
A positive sense of security 25
Concluding remarks 27
References 28
Notes 30

Thinking about Sustainable Security. Metaphors, Paradoxes and Ironies 33
Adam Crawford
Introduction 33
Part I: security as metaphor 34
Part II: sustainable security 45
Concluding remarks 51
References 53
Notes 56

Growing Sanguine about the Weeds. Gardening and Security Revisited 57
Simon Hallsworth and David James
Introduction 57
Rhizomatic meanings of security and care 58
Preliminary observations on gardening and security 59
Biopolitics and the gardening state 61
Gardens and gardening revisited 64
Towards a positive conception of security 67
Concluding remarks 69
References 70

Power and Servility. An Experiment in the Ethics of Security and Counter-Security 71
Phil Carney and Deanna Dadusc
Introduction 71
Contract, security and sentiment 71
Self-enslavement: from Spinoza to Nietzsche 74
From religious to secular security 75
How possible is a counter-conduct of security? 78
Concluding remarks 80
References 82
Notes 83

Security in Support of Safety and Community. Thoughts from New York 85
Karen Franck
Introduction 85
Security and safety 85
Importance of people and the local 87
Security of and security for 89
Concluding remarks 95
References 97
Notes 99

Empirical Part 101

Your Friendly Gasoline Station. On Habitual Space 103
Oskar Verkaaik
Introduction 103
Community and privacy 104
Beyond Bourdieu's habitus 105
Habit-making through socialisation 107
Habitual space 108

The mosque debate 111
Concluding remarks 113
References 114

Not 'Fortress Los Angeles'. Design, and Management of Privately Owned Public Spaces in New York City 117
Te-Sheng Huang
Introduction 117
Six indoor cross-block atria 118
Diverse users and uses 120
Management practices 122
Reflections 125
Concluding remarks 125
References 126

Fluid Security? Home, Care and Belonging in Prostitution Migration 129
Brenda Oude Breuil
Introduction 129
Contemporary discourse on prostitution migration 130
Raced and gendered stories of care: renegotiating the 'proper' place 132
Spaced stories of imagined security: being here, longing for there 138
Concluding remarks 140
References 141
Notes 143

Afterthoughts. Security, Anti-Security, Positive Security 145
Ian Loader
Introduction 145
Restraining security 146
Resisting security 147
Recovering security 148
Concluding remarks 150
References 151
Notes 152

Notes on Contributors 153